

Seeds of Spite

Tanner Pfeiffer

Some just-met men on public transit mold
A child's nascent masculinity
The most foundational fragility
Is scarcity that thirsts for conquest's quench

A feckless form of friendship born to fail
The feminine and masculine alike
To deeper dig the trenches, turning tail,
And plant the seeds of spite within this tyke